Upon completion of the program, students will earn a Ph.D. in Business Administration from the University of South Carolina – Columbia, and a Ph.D. in Business Administration from the Chonnam National University. Students must meet the degree requirements of each institution and each institution will award separate degrees. The research will be collaboratively supervised between the two institutions, and it will be expected that dissertation committees will consist of faculty from both institutions. No changes are being made to curriculum, admissions, or other university policies. This degree has been approved by the UofSC Board of Trustees and the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education.

The University of South Carolina is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges to award doctoral degrees. Our dual degree partner in South Korea is not accredited by SACS Commission on Colleges and the accreditation of University of South Carolina does not extend to or include Chonnam National University or its students. Further, although University of South Carolina agrees to accept certain coursework from Chonnam National University to be applied toward an award from University of South Carolina, that coursework may not be accepted by other colleges or universities in transfer, even if it appears on a transcript from University of South Carolina. The decision to accept coursework in transfer from any institution is made by the institution considering the acceptance of credits or coursework.

We do not anticipate any new costs associated with this dual degree program. The signed Memorandum of Understanding and contact information for the program representative at Chonnam National University is attached.

Please let us know if you have any questions regarding this notification.

Sincerely,

AGREEMENT OF ACADEMIC COOPERATION

CHONNAM NATIONAL UNIVERSITY
GWANJU, REPUBLIC OF KOREA
AND
THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA
COLUMBIA, SC
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA for the
DUAL DEGREE DOCTORAL PROGRAM

In order to advance academic collaboration between Chonnam National University, College of Business Administration (CNU) and the University of South Carolina, Darla Moore School of Business (South Carolina) both institutions will cooperate in the development of a dual degree doctoral program. This program will provide opportunities for Ph.D. students to expand their learning and research and to enhance their academic mentoring to include faculty from both institutions.

A. Purpose of the Program, Definitions and General Principals

The institutions seek to enhance and expand doctoral education for their Ph.D. students in Business Administration. Students will take the course work and conduct research under the instruction and supervision of faculty from both institutions. Student will complete a dissertation supervised by faculty from each partner institution. Students receive Ph.D. degrees from each university upon completion of the degree requirements for each school. Transfer of academic credit between the institutions may be approved to meet academic program requirements.

In this agreement "home institution" refers to the institution at which a student is initially accepted and "host institution" to the institution which has agreed to receive a dual degree student. "CNU student" applies to students who are initially accepted at CNU, "South Carolina student" to students initially accepted at Darla Moore School of Business. "Dual degree student" corresponds to a student participating in the dual degree program.

The requirements for each degree have to be fulfilled. Each institution will be the sole judge of whether a student has completed the requirement for the degree that it awards. Each institution will be the sole judge of whether or not a student has met any progression requirements for its degree. Each institution may change the requirements for their degree according to their own governance process and give notification to the partner institution. If a student does not meet the requirements for the award of the host institution's degree, the home institution reserves the right to award its own degree to the student.

At CNU, the Dean of the Graduate School approves applications for graduation upon completion of all CNU doctoral degree requirements.

At South Carolina, the Dean of the Graduate School approves applications for graduation upon completion of all South Carolina doctoral degree requirements.

B. Eligibility for participation

1. Each home institution will be responsible for selecting their participating students. Each home institution will nominate students to the host institution. The host institution shall make the final admission decision regarding those nominated based upon the existing admission criteria of the host institution.

2. Dual degree students must meet all eligibility requirements for admission to each doctoral program and must follow the normal application process for graduate admission to each institution. CNU may nominate students that have achieved a score of 80 or higher in CNU PhD admission exam. This exam score may be used as a substitute for the GRE/GMAT score.

3. Candidates who do not hold a degree from a U.S. institution, have not graduated from a program with English as the instructional language, or are not currently enrolled in a program with English as the instructional language must submit a valid (two years old or less) test score demonstrating their command of the English language. The minimum score for the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) is 80 (Internet-based) and 6.5 for the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) prior to beginning the program at South Carolina.

C. Transfer of Academic Credit and Program Requirements

1. Dual degree students may transfer academic credit from the home institution to meet some of the course requirements of the host institution. All transfer of academic credit must be pre-approved by the host institution.

2. Each institution has established degree requirements that must be met by student participants in order to earn the Ph.D. degree. Each institution will confer their Ph.D. degree to participants only upon completion of its own institution's specified requirements.

3. At South Carolina, the doctoral program requires at least 60 credit hours. This includes 18 hours of research methods courses, 15 hours for the major, 15 hours for the cognate, and 12 dissertation preparation credit hours. Dual degree students are required to complete at least 30 hours of course credit while enrolled at South Carolina. In addition to at least 30 hours credit earned at South Carolina, up to eighteen hours of academic credit from CNU may be accepted and applied toward the South Carolina Ph.D. degree course requirements. The general design is for students to complete their first year at CNU, matriculate to South Carolina for their second year (three semesters), and then return to CNU to complete their dissertation.

4. Student participants are normally required at both institutions to take a qualifying examination at the end of the first year of study. CNU and South Carolina will collaborate, as feasible to meet their respective institutional requirements, to design and offer a qualifying examination that will fulfill the requirements of both institutions.

5. The comprehensive exam will usually be administered at the end of the program coursework. In the event that a student participant has returned to the home institution prior to administration of the comprehensive exam, the comprehensive exam may be proctored at the home institution.

6. In the event that a dual degree student has returned to the home institution at the time of the dissertation defense, permission can be granted for the defense to be done via Skype, teleconference, or similar long distance communication medium, as approved by the both institutions.

D. Faculty Composition of Dissertation Committees

1. The dissertation may be a single study or consist of two or three papers. Because dual degree student research will be collaboratively supervised between the two institutions, it will be expected that the dissertation committee will consist of faculty from both institutions. Each institution's policies and regulations about faculty membership of dissertation committees will be respected.

2. At South Carolina, the Chair of the committee must be a regular member of the graduate faculty. A faculty member from the CNU may serve as co-chair of the committee, if receiving a term appointment to the Graduate faculty. Faculty members from CNU may serve as members of the dissertation committee as outside members, with no term appointment being necessary.

3. Funding for faculty to travel to participate in dissertation committee work is the responsibility of the individual faculty member or either department, contingent upon availability of funding. A student defending a dissertation shall not be responsible for travel costs of faculty members.

E. Program Costs

1. Dual degree student participants will pay the required tuition and fees for each institution.

2. Dual degree students are eligible to receive funding from either the host or home institution, as is available and governed by each institution's policies and available funding.

3. At South Carolina, dual degree students will be assessed the graduate non-resident full-time student tuition rate; students will not be assessed the matriculation, technology, international student, or health center fees. Dual degree students will be considered on a competitive basis for graduate assistantship support that includes a salary and a reduction of tuition to the graduate resident rate. Those student participants who do not qualify for an assistantship may, under the terms of this agreement, be entitled to receive a scholarship each semester whereby they are eligible for the resident graduate tuition rate.

4. All individual expenses of dual degree students, including travel and room and board, and other incidental expenses are the responsibility of the individual student.

5. At South Carolina, student participants are required to enroll in the University's Student Health Insurance Plan while enrolled in the program or provide proof of comparable coverage.

6. Students shall provide financial certification acceptable to the host institution as required for visa regulations. South Carolina will assist students, upon receipt of all documentation, with the visa application and measures to ensure legal status in the U.S.

F. Accreditation Disclaimer Statement

South Carolina is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACS) to award Bachelor, Master and Doctoral degrees. CNU is not accredited by SACS Commission on Colleges and the accreditation of South Carolina does not extend to or include CNU or its students. Further, although South Carolina agrees to accept certain course work from CNU to be applied toward an award from South Carolina, that course work may not be accepted by other colleges or universities in transfer, even if it appears on a transcript from South Carolina. The decision to accept course work in transfer from any institution is made by the institution considering the acceptance of credits or course work.

G. Terms and Conditions

1. This agreement shall be effective upon arrival and signature of both parties.
2. This agreement shall take effect on August 1, 2020 and shall be for a period of five years terminating on July 31, 2025. This agreement is automatically renewable on the same terms and conditions for another five (5) years, unless written notice is given by either party ninety (90) days prior to the date of expiration.
3. Termination at any time may occur by mutual agreement or at the request of either party with six (6) months written notice. If no activity occurs as described materializes within five (5) years, the agreement shall be considered terminated.
4. In the event of program termination, those student participants who are enrolled in the program shall be allowed to complete the program, with the agreed upon conditions, as long as they make academic progress toward degree completion.
5. The parties agree to consult periodically concerning the status and progress of the program.

H. Force Majeure

Neither partner institution shall be liable for failure to perform its obligations under this agreement if such failure results from circumstances which could not have been contemplated and which are beyond the partner institution's reasonable control.

I. Dispute Settlement

Both partner institutions agree to amicably resolve any disputes arising from the agreement in accordance with institutional policies and governmental regulations of each partner's institution and government.

J. Intellectual Property

The parties convene that this Agreement does not grant South Carolina or CNU any license of use or rights over the intellectual property of the other party. The use of trademarks and/or denominations representative of either party are strictly prohibited without the owner's written consent.
