

MASTER OF EDUCATION IN TEACHING

100% Online

The Master of Education (M.Ed.) in Teaching is for classroom teachers and others working in educational settings who wish to continue their professional development and advance their career through graduate education.

Choose from one of these high-demand specializations and be equipped with the knowledge and professional skills you need to stand out as a leader in the classroom.

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE

Discover research-based practices designed to meet the needs of a culturally and linguistically diverse population which is a key element in the professional preparation of all educators.

LITERACY AND READING

Explore research-based practices and inquiry-learning designed to meet the literacy needs of today's diverse learners. Meets the SC Read to Succeed course requirements for in-service teachers.

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING

Examine teaching methodology designed to enable learners to gain knowledge and skills while investigating and responding to an authentic, engaging and complex question, problem, or challenge. This specialization meets course requirements for the SC Project Based Learning endorsement.

MULTICULTURAL CONTEXTS IN EDUCATION

Explore instructional strategies and classroom environments to support learners from diverse backgrounds. Research influences of diversity on instruction and curriculum with emphasis on teaching strategies for multicultural student populations.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

100% online
degree program

Complete in
as few as 18 months

30 credit hours

Design your own research topic

GRE/Miller Analogies test not required.

TOP 10 PROGRAM NATIONALLY

Ranked as the #6 online Master's in K-12 Education programs in the nation by BestColleges.

Visit us online to learn more:

sc.edu/education/onlineprograms

College of Education
UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA

